Code of Conduct for Teachers

A teacher in an education college holds a unique position, shaping the future of educators. Their conduct directly influences the quality of teaching and learning in schools. Here's a proposed code of conduct for teachers in an education college:

Professional Ethics

- Integrity and Honesty: Teachers should uphold the highest standards of honesty, integrity, and fairness in their professional and personal dealings.
- Respect for Students: Teachers should treat all students with respect, dignity, and impartiality, regardless of their background, ability, or behaviour.
- Respect for Colleagues: Teachers should foster a collaborative and supportive environment, respecting the contributions of their colleagues and engaging in constructive dialogue.
- Confidentiality: Teachers should maintain confidentiality of student information, unless required by law or with the student's consent.
- Objectivity: Teachers should make fair and unbiased assessments of student performance, based solely on academic merit.

Teaching and Learning

- Effective Instruction: Teachers should use effective teaching methods and strategies to promote student learning and development.
- Continuous Professional Development: Teachers should engage in ongoing professional development to improve their teaching skills and knowledge.
- Student-Centred Learning: Teachers should create a learning environment that is student-centred, fostering critical thinking, problem-solving, and creativity.
- Inclusive Education: Teachers should ensure that all students have equal access to education, regardless of their special needs or learning styles.

College and Institutional Responsibilities

- Adherence to Policies: Teachers should adhere to the college's policies and procedures, including those related to academic integrity, attendance, and conduct.
